

PATERSON PLANS EUGENIC LAW TO PROTECT UNBORN

Will Pass Ordinance Compelling Couples to Stand
Health Test.

PATERSON, N. J., Nov. 4.—Moved by the fact that observation of many children born in hospitals in this city shows disease which were plainly contributed by the parents, or one of them, the Health Commission of this city proposes to attempt to require from each person applying for a license to marry a certificate from a reputable physician showing freedom on the part of the applicant from the diseases communicable to offspring.

The city's Health Physician, Dr. Thomas A. Clay, has been gathering a mass of statistics not only in this city but elsewhere, from asylums and hospitals, and has asked the New York Department of Health for statistics and records. Commissioner Nathan H. Kohn says the ordinance will probably be in shape for introduction on first reading at the regular meeting next Tuesday evening.

President Edmund B. Hanson says he is satisfied that the proposed regulation would be excellent, but he thinks that it may be needful to go to the Legislature and obtain the passage of a State law. Some of the other Commissioners think that the State law as it stands gives the Board of Health ample power to take any reasonable step to check the spread of disease.

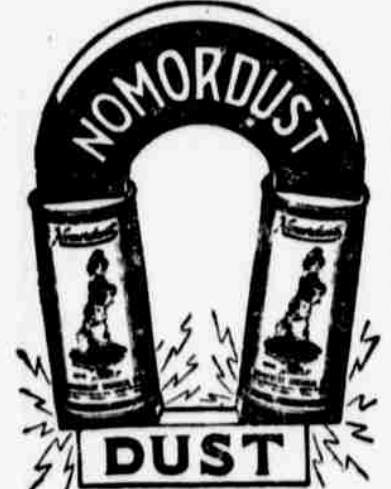

The Board has thus far only the Wisconsin precedent to guide it, not being able to obtain any Eastern precedent to work upon. The Wisconsin law was declared invalid, but furnished interesting study. When it was called to the attention of the members of the Board that their ordinance would have only local effect and that persons unable to comply with it would only have to spend a few cents' carefare to make it null in its effect, it was said that some one had to blaze the way in the matter and that there was no doubt if they once took the stand for certificates their example would be widely copied until the requirement would be at least State wide.

MURDER TRIAL BEGINS.

Barney E. Corn Faces Jury on Charge of Killing Hotel Clerk.

Barney E. Corn, who has been in the Tombs several months on the charge of killing Charles Miller, clerk of the Hotel Altan, No. 159 West Thirty-fourth Street, on March 14 last, was placed on trial for his life today before Judge Malone in the Court of General Sessions. Joseph Bourret, twenty-seven years old, of No. 316 West One Hundred and Seventeenth Street, indicted with Corn, has confessed his part in the crime and will testify against Bourret. Bourret pleaded guilty to manslaughter in the first degree and will be sentenced at the conclusion of Corn's trial.

The murder of Miller, according to Bourret, was due to the fact that he at one time had rejected Corn and members of his gang from the hotel.

Dustless Sweeping Is Now Possible

You know about dustless dusting, but do you know about dustless sweeping?

Then listen: There is a sweeping compound—a powder called Nomordust. You simply spread a little across the room—then sweep it ahead of you as you go.

Not a particle of dust will fly up to choke you—your ornaments will be as dust free after you sweep as before. Nomordust collects the dust—ordinary sweeping spreads it.

But this is not all. Nomordust enables you to sweep a room clear in half the time and you only have to sweep half as often, for you get all the dirt each time—it clings to the powder; this gives you much time for leisure.

As one housekeeper said, "Now that I use Nomordust, it's just as though I had another maid." Yet Nomordust costs but a few pennies a month.

Nomordust makes carpets look like new—it brings out the original color. Fine for wood floors and linoleums.

A Nomordust home is a sanitary home, for in dust clouds lurk dangerous disease germs, and a Nomordust home is a dustless home.

Try Nomordust at our risk. Get a 10c can to-day. If you're not more than pleased, the grocer will refund your money without question.

The advent of the Thirtieth Annual Horse Show presents as great an opportunity for the display of fashionable accoutrements, gowns and habits as it does horses—the surety being that each display will be awarded its share of attention—and criticism.

That costs will be lower at Macy's is a foregone conclusion—a tribute in economy to the shopper who shows discretion in buying.

Frocks for the Fashionable Tea Hour

The English custom of "teasing" has become an established American custom. The hour is too early for a dinner gown, and too late for the informality of the morning street suit; therefore it becomes the appropriate time of the day for one of the graceful frocks under the separate coat.

A youthful model in charmeuse and velvet combination has fur-trimmed collar, cuffs and skirt. The fur on the charmeuse skirt heads a deep hem of velvet; and a little semi-bolero of velvet falls just below the bust line over the charmeuse. In black, brown and navy. $19.74

Another frock of black charmeuse and velvet. Patent leather belt. Narrow vestee of silver tinsel. Triple rows of stitching to match velvet. In black charmeuse with following colors: blue, green and claret. $27.75

The third model (illustrated) of silk has a graceful semi-fitted back, full skirt and jacket-effect in the front of the blouse. Fur trims the collar, cuffs and skirt. Gray, plum, navy and green. $34.75

100 Cane Umbrellas at $2.79

Macy's Usual Price $3.49.

The combination of an umbrella and walking stick was an innovation of several years ago, and has established itself as a most convenient accessory. It is an importation. The silk umbrella is very close rolling, on a standard make frame and fitted into a smart case of prepared fibre finished in malacca or ebony color. The outside case telescopes into a small space when the walking stick is transformed into an umbrella.

The "Easikept" Umbrellas
Women of to-day appreciate the value of an umbrella like the "Easikept" that is made to suspend from the wrist by a silken cord or chain, preventing its loss.

Made with the improved Stub Ferrule which does away with the possibility of injury by the pointed ferrule.

These umbrellas may be found at Macy's in silk and cotton, all silk or yarn dyed taffeta, at $1.79, $2.97, $3.96 and $4.96.
